

MANY DELEGATES ELECTED TO CITIZENS CITY CONVENTION REPUDIATE THE PARTY

INDIGNATION BEING SHOWN

In Scores of Cases Well-Known Republicans Were Chosen as Delegates Without Their Knowledge or Consent.

PROTESTS COMING FROM ALL SECTIONS OF CITY

Indications That the Citizens Party Will Nominate Mayor Bransford, and Apologies Are Already Being Made.

STRANGE UNION IS PLANNED

The leaders of the so-called "Citizens" party awoke yesterday morning to find that a large number of real citizens were raising vigorous protests to the assumption that they would be identified with the party. In almost every election district in the city leaders of the new party placed the names of prominent Republicans on their lists of delegates, apparently for the purpose of injuring the Republicans. In most of these instances the men whose names were placed on the lists did not attend the primaries and are opposed to the movement.

Precinct chairmen and party leaders in every district, known to be staunch Republicans, were deliberately placed among the delegates of a movement in which they were not in sympathy. These persons were not at the primaries, and were surprised and indignant to find the unauthorized use of the names as delegates.

Of the stalwart Republicans whose names are in the lists of delegates of the Citizens party, nearly every one yesterday denied that he was a member of the new party, saying that his name was used without his consent, and that he would not attend to the city convention nor have anything to do with the new and presumptuous party. One of the peculiar features of the Citizens movement is the sudden boom of Mayor Bransford as its candidate for mayor. With characteristic consistency, several of the men who were fighting Mayor Bransford bitterly only a few months ago, are now his strongest henchmen. Some of those who were instructed to vote for Mayor Bransford at the city convention are among those who were the loudest in the denunciation of Mayor Bransford's administration.

Ashton's Position.

Elias Conway Ashton is among the delegates from the Seventh district instructed to vote for Bransford. While not now an ardent defender of Mayor Bransford, Mr. Ashton said he would not like to be quoted as opposing him in any way. "I was at the primary only a short time," said Ashton, "and I did not hear the discussion relative to Mr. Bransford. The mayor was not my personal choice for reelection, but I would not allow my personal feelings to interfere with my carrying out the instructions of my district. I should not like to be quoted as opposing Mayor Bransford, as I probably shall, I will undoubtedly correct the denunciations of my district, despite what my personal feelings may be."

George Q. Morris, recently a bitter opponent of the mayor, is another of the delegates. "I am thoroughly in sympathy with the Citizens movement," said Mr. Morris. "I shall support Mayor Bransford if he is a candidate on our ticket for reelection. However, I would not care to say whether or not I would support him for the nomination in the convention. Before I commit myself in this, I should like to have the opportunity of knowing who else may be a candidate for the nomination. My district did not instruct its delegates, and what discussion there has been of Mayor Bransford as our candidate is only formal."

New York, Sept. 11.—The indictment charging F. Augustus Heinze, the copper financier, with conspiracy to obstruct the administration of justice by concealing the books of the United Copper company, was dismissed today by Judge Hough of the United States circuit court. The books were under subpoena of the federal court last spring when the courts were investigating Mr. Heinze's action as president of the Mercantile bank in sustaining the firm of Otto Heinze & Co. during the financial panic of 1907. The accounts which were wanted could not be found by the federal officers, and Heinze's indictment followed. Judge Hough today also dismissed fifteen of the sixteen counts in an indictment, also pending against Mr. Heinze, charging him with misappropriation of the funds of the National bank by certifying checks of the firm of Otto Heinze & Co.

CURIOS ABOARD THE SHIP

St. Johns, N. F., Sept. 11.—According to Captain Neilson of the fishing steamer Taft, which arrived here tonight from Battle Harbor, Labrador, Commander Peary's steamer Roosevelt was badly damaged by ice in the north and may not get to North Sydney before Sept. 25. The Roosevelt struck a rock while entering Battle Harbor and was fast for six hours, but was not seriously damaged by this accident. The Taft was in Battle Harbor last Wednesday when the Roosevelt arrived from Indian Harbor. The Roosevelt put in to take on a supply of coal and also to give Commander Peary an opportunity to send details of his far northern trip to the United States.

Certain He Got There. While the Roosevelt was stranded, Captain Neilson went aboard to offer his assistance and was thanked by Commander Peary and Captain Bartlett, who decided that they would be able to work the steamer free at high water. Captain Neilson said that Commander Peary and Captain Bartlett showed him over the ship and told him that the pole had been reached. When Captain Neilson asked Peary if he was certain he had found the pole, the commander declared, "I got there; you may rest assured of that."

SHIP BADLY BATTERED.

Neilson said that the Roosevelt was battered and that he had shown the steamer to be in a bad way. He said the steamer was dropping from her seams when she reached Battle Harbor and that the crew had to work there to assist the crew in giving the ship a complete overhauling, cleaning and painting. He said that when he left Battle Harbor yesterday it was the intention of Peary and Bartlett to run the Roosevelt to assist the crew in giving the ship a complete overhauling, cleaning and painting. ## WELL BUT LOOKED TIRED.

The crew of the Roosevelt are all well, but look tired and according to Captain Neilson the most worn looking member of the expedition is Commander Peary himself. Neilson was informed that Peary had been very busy in the final stages of the dash to the pole. The expedition encountered blizzards and according to Captain Neilson was obliged to kill dogs for food. "Professor Marvin was drowned and an Eskimo was killed," said Captain Neilson. "The ship was damaged by ice and the crew was very tired when they reached the pole."

CURIOS SIGHT ABOARD SHIP.

Captain Neilson said that the rigging of the Roosevelt presented a curious sight. About forty musk ox heads and heads of reindeer were suspended to yard arms. There were also many seals, the last of nearly 200 taken poleward.

PEARLY STIRS UP A HORNET'S NEST

Wife and Friends of Dr. Cook Take Up Cudgels in Behalf of That Explorer.

New York, Sept. 11.—Mrs. Frederick A. Cook, who still persists in her refusal to be interviewed directly or to make any statement for the public, stirred up a hornet's nest today when she made a public statement in support of her husband's report that he reached the pole ahead of Commander Peary, contenting herself with a friend whose name is withheld, to account for her silence. "I believe in my husband," she said, "and there the matter ends for me. I do not belong in this controversy, and I have feared that if I talked at all, no matter how guarded, I should be dragged into it willy-nilly. There would be denials and counter-denials, and I should never get clear. For this reason I have said and shall say nothing whatever beyond the bare affirmation that I believe my husband."

Outburst of Osborn.

Mrs. Cook's reticence, which her husband held as a virtue, found in the more and more acrimonious tone taken by the partisans in the Cook-Peary dispute. Captain B. S. Osborn, secretary of the Arctic club, of which Dr. Cook is a member, and one of the most positive of the critics, gave an interview tonight on the dispatches from Commander Peary published today. "Gold brick," he found a particularly offensive epithet. "Peary had better shut up and let the captain handle the matter. Judges, mayors and business men will no faith in the man, though I am willing to concede that he may have reached the pole."

Not Speaking Officially.

But Captain Osborn made it clear that he was speaking as a private individual, and not as an official. Dr. Osborn, chairman of the executive committee of the Arctic club, said tonight that he and his associates had set Tuesday, Sept. 21, as the date for a meeting of the club will tender Dr. Cook a private banquet of honor at the Waldorf-Astoria. Two hundred guests will be invited, the party of the chartered steamer which will go down the bay to meet Dr. Cook aboard the second expedition, and will be with Dr. Cook in the luckless Miranda expedition in 1891.

The new board consists of three members—Professor Henry C. Emery of Yale, chairman; James B. Reynolds of Massachusetts, now assistant secretary of the treasury; and Alvin H. # UNFORTUNATE GIRL DIED IN PHYSICIAN'S OFFICE

Authorities Satisfied That Maybelle Millman Was Victim of an Illegal Surgical Operation.

Detroit, Sept. 11.—When today's investigations into the Maybelle Millman tragedy began Dr. George A. Fritch was still in custody. Miss Martha Henning and Mrs. Alice Renaud were understood to have remained at police headquarters overnight as witnesses, although Chief of Detectives McDonnell said the women were not being detained. The authorities are understood to have sought a statement from a University of Michigan student who has been prominent in athletics. The student is said to be playing with a minor league baseball club in the west. The authorities have practically accepted the theory that Miss Millman succumbed to an anesthetic on an operating table before surgical treatment had been concluded, that she died in a physician's office that but one physician was implicated in the case. Miss Martha Henning, friend and companion of Miss Maybelle Millman, was tonight released from detention at police headquarters and sent to her home in Ann Arbor. Miss Henning has convinced the police
